ONE PENNY.

No. 23999.

LONDON, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1923.

STORY. CARNARVON'S

MEDIATION NOT

CHIANY'S SUBMISSION FIRST.

MANCE'S RESOLVE BRITAIN AND COLOGNE RAILWAYS.

From Bor Own Correspondent . p. w. smith.

... PARIS, Sunday. REDWOOD'S telegram from Brussels to the "Daily News" on Saturday, reporting on high authority the readiness of Gerhigh associate the result of Ger-insign to negotiate, has been widely leaded here during the week-end. he fresh, which, however, repeats with danasis declarations previously made manage will accept no mediation that France will accept no mediation along the Attles, and that Germany but first indicate her submission. filwing upon Lord Current s speech the House of Lords, the French to have informed. Downing-inclinat it could not accept any offer windidton, and would be satisfied kisoming else than the enpitulation COMING NEGOTIATIONS. Thémis, the Beigian Premier, is adters early in the week. Genefrager in the coupled regions, and makingsled with General Godley, coinmending the British troops.

According to the French papers, the definite result of M. Le Procquer's inits in the proceedings. however, far administration in the proceedings. however, far administration in the proceedings however, far administration in the proceedings. however, far administration in the proceedings however, far administration in the proceedings. to flow the French, the control of the least line of railway from News non Duren.

Control important question of the this lines through Cologne has the position re-Asserting to certain accounts the Asserting to Enowing the French to more though by this route has been conceded by Great Britain, and General Payet, on this supposition, will have pone-merely to arround details.

There are three double sets of metals mining through or near Cologne, on? of them not touching the town liself. It is understood here that this will be given up to France to allow of the manger and victualling of her troop. Rwould be worked by French rullway mm, and, ray the napers, all danger o mible from German strikers and materes would thus be evoided. . French correspondents in the Ruhr twoforganises attempts to bring about 'a suppler rising... Documents are said blave been discovered during a raid (N. Pokes barracks. Militariatory speaches have been held by Nationalist agents at Essen delining that passive resistance is and his, and that easy direct action can that. The Holshevik Commissury, is will to have been during the last two do to the Ruhr.

Eur. Sneplet Correspondent at beaution in Page Three describes from the Ruhr during the week-end, and a Page Mine or Berlin corredisplant discusses the Corman in the absence of a "concillatory butter trem France, is likely to Cit . Do continued.

TRINCH REPRISALS. little Feam of an Outburst

in the Ruhro . We der Gwn Correspondente

Beatin, Sunday. Mination reaching the German formant and the German Press sug-April (het the Ruhr population is Epilip Edny driven into a highly dan-Various" to-day says the altuation

The ching a crists. The trade Timon, yesterday issued mani-temphasising the need for conicon emphasising the necessity of the fear is ox-color of the dam may burst and managed of the dam may burst and managed of the population is attrithe file official quarters here to the policy of harstness which doubtis the full here that if the aim of the

This righty is to get coal the his mined is thoroughly impolitie.

Stop press.

SCORES OF BRAD."

WONDERS LUXOR.

EMOTION AT THE TOMB OF THE KING.

CREAKING DOORS.

CARVING AND GILDING IN GREAT SHRINE.

Lord Carnarvon has written the following article (published by special arrangement) which supplements the account given in the "Daily News" on Saturday of the wonderful results at the opening of the inner chamber of King Tulankhamen's tomb.

SURPRISES OF THE TOMB.

By LORD CARNARVON.

LUXOR, Sunday. FIND it difficult to describe what I saw and felt when I eutered the inner chamber of the tomb of Tutunkhamen, for I never dreamed I should gaze upon the amazing sight which met my eyes. canopy, two large doors. What with the heat of the day Cat with Pink outside and the electric lamps and the crowding together of so many in such a confined space, the air its result of M. Le Trocquer's mis | was insufferably hot. The interest > matters. The work was begun by Mr. Carter's clapping away the coment at the top of the sealed door, but and required a great deal of cutting with the chisel to detach it from the stones forming the bucking of the wall, and the greatest care had to be exercised because we were anxious to preserve all the sealings as nearly intact as possible.

boils up wall.

After a little while a small aper ture was made, through which it was possible to peep, and it became evident that there was no empty chamber or passage confronting us, but that we were looking at some large built-up structure.

we managed to make out that it was my eyes off. It was possible to see that the top of what appeared to be a the whole interior of the outer wall was large canopy, carved and gilded. The work proceeded slowly, till auddenly an interruption occurred. On one of the inner stones there lay the remains of a necklace of beads of faience and gold with two orna- string, and the whole sealing arrange mental clasps. There it had evidently been dropped, presumably 8,000 years ago, by some one who ither did not notice it or did not take the trouble to pick it up be-cause he was already loaded with

Painted

Walls. Much more of the construction of the interior object was now visible, and our first conjecture, that it was some kind of catafalque or canopy, was confirmed. It was now seen to be an ensmous structure of wood, most elaborately carved and gilded and inlaid with blue faience. Altogether it forms one of the most magnificent and remarkable objects ever discovered. walls of the interior of this cham bor were painted.

appeared also to have suffered from damp and to be disfigured by stains A Wondrous of iron mould. Still, even from Object. the outside, it was easy to distinguish among the decorations the cartouche of Tutankhamen.

i I may have felt when I entered the first chamber were as nothing when I realised that I was going in what undoubtedly was practically the untouched tomb of an Egyptian King. found on the east side of the shrine, or of boxes contaming loaded weapons to Moving carefully to the right, we Tonéua.

They were closed by means of a bolt.

In an official statement issued on and hung on heavy bronze hinges. With Thursday Stantiall was described as a ominous creakings, we managed to open a door, only to find ourselves confronted with a second canory. This was entirely gill, and between be two structures were some of the Funeral Ritual: The "Opening of . the Mouth." This acrement took place before the mummy or a statue of the dead. A priest roughed the mouth with an increment, and another presented a vaco of water. Behind, a Loctor poured water from a vace and burnt incense. The reasons were to give the dead a new body for the Other World, to make the divine, to establish communion helwann the living and the dead, and to make the soul enter the mummy or clattic. At the came time offerings were presented.

most marvellous alabaster ornaments it is possible to imagine. One beautiful little painted pot with a lid on the top of which was a cal With the aid of an electric torch with pink torgue, I could scarcely take > had double doors exactly opposite those we had opened, but a very in portant point was that the finer door. vero scaled with small scale and ment was intact. it is, therefore, almost certain that the body of the King is lying some-where in this second chrine, or in one even farther in, untouched.

Nover Before."

As far as I know, this has never appened before Hitherto we have only found the Royal personages either hidden away or very much plundered. In the case f the tomb of Rameses IV., if I recollect the papyrus rightly, five of these shrines, or canopies, figured as surounding th. King's sarcophagus. There is room for as many as that in this tomb, but it is imprudent to venture any prophecy on the subject.
The space is so constricted between the walls of the chamber and those of the outer shrine that it was impossible to pass along on any side but that where the entrance doors are situated. Now, also, we could see that the but with the help of a lamp I could discern the black paddles or cars for the deceased King's use after death, laid in The painting, however, did not criss-cross pattern along one side, and seem to me to be very fine, and it

This part of the temb will take configuration in the outer wall of the chamber which has never been closed, beyond which is another room revealing one of the most impusing and wonderful pictures possible to finak of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this was possible to think of getting in. Any description I can give of this of only a very superficial survey.

The first thing that struck the gaze that the another would not the was one of the most wondration of the was one of the most wondration of the was one of the most wondration of the was the tomb of the process of the most wondration of the was the tomb of the process of the most wondration of the was one of the most wondration of the was the tomb of the process of the most wondration of the was one of the most wondration.

The first thing that struck the gaze that there was no doubt the chamber which has nother toom reveal ing one of the most wonderful that there was no doubt the chamber which has nother toom reveal ing one of the most wonderful that there was no doubt the chamber which has nother toom reveal that the chamber which has nother toom reveal ing one of the most wonderful that the chamber which has not the chamber which h months to examine. Un the same east side there is

FIREARMS BY POST.

POLICE DETAIN AN

native of Clerkenwell. He is said to the reader by my description of this be suffering from gunshot wounds in remarkable colony at Fontaineof a small Army pension, which he drew at the post office, St. John's-street. Clerkenwell.

BLAZING ASYLUM HORRORS.

22 Inmates Burned to Death.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, Sunday.

Twenty-two lumities and several question had been forcing itself upon musica are reported to have lost their lives in a terrible fire which broke out to day at the Manhattan State

The outbreak occurred is bitterly cold weather at five this morning. and made such rapid progress that replied: rescue measures were rendered impossible.

sane, whose screams and shricks could be heard outside the building, were entrapped in the padded cells, and died an awful death.

lowed the alarm were heartrending

ARMS and SECURITY.

PAGE FOUR.

The firemen and other rescuers worked the cause of the outbreak. The Cosmopolitan moving picture while the "essence" remains manner, studios and the International News and it is this disproportion that we studios in New York were also detailed in the inst place to correct."

stroyed by Are to-day. Marton Davies "For example?" I said to have lost thousands of dollars "Love springs from "essence" and Heavy Death Roll Feared in Express Collision.

A railway accident occurred at 6.40 last night to the Paris to Strasbourg express on the Eastern Railway, says a Paris Exchange message.
The train, which left Paris at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, crashed into a goods train in the station at Port-a-Binson. At the time the express was travelling at 60 miles an hour. Details are not yet to hand, but fifteen people are reported killed and thirty injured. It is feared, however,

FOREST PHILOSOPHERS.

Gurdjieff the Master and His Quest at Fontainebleau.

From Our Special Corespondent, E. C. BOWYER.

FONTAINEBLEAU, Sunday. FI tried to picture to myself the effect produced on the wind of both feet.

He enlisted in the 19th County of London Regiment in 1915, and was distanced in November, 1917. Similall perfected consciousness and living, lived with his mother, Mrs. Stantiall, I should induce that he would be bleau, brought together by a common desire to realise un ideal of is only by deliberate self-training that should judge that be would be in Little Northampton-street from I should judge that he would be in Little Northampton-street from L should judge that he would be included in Little that he will be that stating his granded ad interesting to a point, but that not Up to January, 1922, he was in receipt | enough has been told him of the called its spring of inspiration.

and talked to me at length. Why dissatisfied?

Even so, I cannot report an interview for M. Gurdlieff insisted that what might write should be the outcome of my conversations with two members of his immediate surroundings to whom he later recommended me. Since I had been coming here the the normal type, of which they themselves presumably had been examples. I remember that I once put the ques

There are men in London who are already as 'clever' as it is possible for men to be under ordinary conditions, and who are asking themselves whether this is the ultima thulelimits of their evolution. "We believe that there is something more, and so we are here." I repeated my question now. What is it that is wrong in ordinary life, and what is it that hi Gurdjiest desires to

"First of all," came the reply, "it is necessary to distinguish between 'essence' due to heredity and 'personality which accures as the result of environment, education, and such undeveloped "Essence." "Every man is aware of the de Aciencies in his undeveloped 'essence.' but because be cannot realise that every body else is in like case he shows a bold front to the world, and leaves himself at all.

not sufficiently discorn the differences between these two characteristics of men, and makes no efforts at all to educate the 'essence.' Hence, in the adult 'personality' is fully grown, while the 'essence' remains infantile.

not 'personality.' It may be that a child will not love its parents while showing affection for other people. "That we can correct, not with force or in any artificial way, but really so that the child will love them in the deepest meaning of the word.

"Indeed, we educate children on new methods so as to develop the two principles side by side, but from the critset forming a complete individual brought up to the level arrived at already by the 'personality.' When this is achieved the two can work together. and it is then that actual progress towards the attainment of wisdom commences, and the harmoniously developed man takes the place of a one-sided, distorted entity." The Institute claims very high powers type of "work"-sculpture, painting, philosophy, and the sciences. "Has the ideal of such barmony ever been attained?" I asked.

"Yes, many times," was the answer; "but not many times in Europe. The men who have realised it belong almost entirely to the East, and it is still true that the West has an entirely erroneous conception of progress in Eastern lands "This is the result of using only mechanical and material standards. If

NOT ALL IMMORTAL.

"Immortality," he added, "is not no bryotesd gnizaeth w lituaresan enough has been told him of the everybody.

teaching of the Prophet who may be for ever but not every man is born for every but not every man is born and the every man is born every but not every man is born told him of the everybody. alled its spring of inspiration. | with a soul. He may acquire one dur-in the very early hours of this Sun ing life on earth, if he so desires, and duy morning, after his work with his will submit to the necessary training. "But it is quite possible to live hap pupils in the Study House was over, he invited me to his room at the Priory.

"But it is quite present pily and to die without possessing a invited me to his room at the Priory.

"But it is quite present pily and to die without possessing a invited me to his room at the Priory." enjoy that luxury."

NOT A SECT.

Enlarging the Faculty of Knowledge.

Ouspensky, a middle-aged, much-travelled and learned Russian who lives West Kensington, is the chief missionary for Gurdjieff's strange academy in the Forest of Fontainchlean which has been described in the "Daily News." Among well-known people deeply interested in the school ar Mr. Alger non Blacks ood, A.r. J. D. Beresford, Mr. A. R. Orage, Mr. J. W. N. Sullivan, Mr. Middleton Murry, Dr. Maurice Nichol and Lady Rothermere. By his lectures and books Mr. Ouspensky hopes to attract a number of other distinguished students, but a present he distinguished students, but a present he is only attempting to appeal to a very limited circle.

"I don't like to see the word 'cult' applied to the movement," he told a Daily News 'interviewer yesterday, the present the terminal of the control o because that is apt to give an entirely wrong impression. We are not trying to found a church or a sect, but simply to promote a method of education and study.

"Man, we say, is a much more com plicated machine than is generally supposed Therefore man must learn to know himself a little better. "Little by little he must rediscover those faculties and forces that lie burien in the depths of his nature; and so, by understanding himself, he will at last understand the universe "Gurdjieff and I have reached our of activity.

The whole district has been stirred by present stage of knowledge by long and hard work in many lands. It has been the affair, and crowds visiting the much like what is going on at the house in the hope of seeing for thempresent moment in the Valley of the selves have had to

Kings at Luxor. PETRIFIED KNOWLEDGE.

" Long ages ago there existed great civilisations and profound knowledge. traditions of which still exist. What remains of the knowledge has often become petrified, so that it is now mere unmeaning ritual.

"As at the tomb of Tutankhamen, mountains of rubbish have to be fulled. You must improve your instrument. The human Faculty of Knowing must be enlarged. "That is why ordinary science and art have reached a point at which they "That is why ordinary science and art have reached a point at which they can go no turther. Progress into the regions beyond involves a perfect harmony of mind and body such as can only be secured by careful training under the right conditions. Hence the institute in the Ferest of Fontainebleau, where each action of the body is because the state of the state o brought into relation with some desired activity of the mind." In this connection Mr. Ouspensky was

GHOST THAT MOVES FURNITURE.

NOT AFRAID OF THE POLICEMAN.

OVERTIME.

£150 Damage on Day and NIGHT SHIFTS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WISBECH, Sunday. MISCHIEVOUS ghost is dis-A MISCHIEVOUS good turbing the even tenor of life at a house at Gorefield, four miles from herc. It is a prosaic-looking house. occupied by an ordinary, inoffensive family. But this is no ordinary ghost; and his pranks are proving rather expensive. Most ghosts are content to flit abou: and show themselves occasionally to scared mortals who are up when respectable folk should be in hed.

AN ORIGINAL CHOST. Not so the Gorefield ghost. Ili. methods are original, if somewhat iconoclastic. Apart from shifting pianos and things, showing that prohably he was a furniture remover in the old days, he works by day as we'l as night, and takes a peculiar delight in the sound of crushing crockery. His taste in this direction has already cos' the householder about £150. He has some other funny little ways. Fig. 18 forms other funny little ways. For instance, this is how he started off Mr. Joseph Scrimshow, who occupies the house with his mother, 22 years of age, and his daughter, aged 16, was called at midnight to his mother's room, hypanso her lace can had been room, because her lace cap had been tiying about the room. It was a singularly thoughtless loke at that time of nerry moughtless joke at that time of night, but the ghost is evidently perspecter of age. Nor apparently was he fearful of discovery, for there was alight.

THE FAVOURITE TRICK. While Mr. Scrimshow was in the room a crash was heard—the ghost hav stand in the next bedroom had crashed to the ground

Neighbours were called in, and as the audience grew, so the program developed in liveliness. While they stood near the kitchen door, first a table in the hall fell over, then a heavy filter in the hitcher jumped off its stand, and a number of places in the pantry went crashing to the floor. A barometer in another room and some lamp globe-

followed suit Police-Constable Hudson was called in, but even this failed to awe the ghostly mischlef-maker, who promptly moved a planola from its place agains the wall.

The district murse tooked in, and cupboard started coming towards be--but tripped and fell over before it go:

So the performances have continued daily, with a inevitable china-smash-ing at each "house." The result is that the place is in disorder. Articlerestored to their proper niches are quickly upset again, so that the family have taken up the attitude that it is useless to put things back, as it only tempts the ghost to further frolics.

THE PLUCK (52. How do the occupants view the lively visitation? They are singularly undisturbed. Although offered other accommoda tion, the old lady strengensly refuse to leave the house. "It can't go on for ever," is Mr. Scrimshaw's philosophic Every effort has been made to And a commonplace reason for the occurrences, but there is no trace of subsidence of the house-which was built in 1969 and stands 40 yards from the main road—and no vibration has been felt by those indoors at the time

Another account says that the ghomoved a gramophoue from a table at one end to another table in the centrof the room, and that pert of a washstand his been seen flying over a bed superstition embodied in apparently IRISH MEMBER'S HOUSE MINED. unmeaning ritual.

"As at the tomb of Tutankhamen.

mountains of rubhlah have to be cleared away before the treasure is re-vealed; but we know now that the treasure is there.

"As a first step it is necessary to realise that man's mind has become realise that man's mind has become to the latter of the latter

WRECK OF ITALIAN STEAMER.

ON OTHER PAGES.

The Wider World. By H. Wilson Marris
Storm-twept Country
Happy Homes or Stump?
The By Elections
England's Poocer Victory

A "stop" exercise practiced by students at the remarkable New Life colony in the Perest of Pontainebleau decerbed by the "Daily News" Special Correspondent. At a signal all stop instantly, the exercise being designed to arrest movement in unaccustemed positions.

EX-SOLDIER.

Scotland Yard announced last night that the jadice had found and detained John Stantiall, the man they wished to interview concerning the sending persons in Forest (inte and Cierkenwell, it is understood that Stantial) was discovered test night in the Limehouse eren, and that he is now detained at the out to-day at the Monhattan State Asvlum.

Fifteen of the most violently in-

There were altogether 700 patients in the building, and the scenes that fol by Maj.-Gen. Sir F. Maurice The second of an important series of articles on disarmament appears on with great heroism, rushing back into the burning building to rescue other patients as soon as one batch had been got to safety.

A defective electric wire is given as The Cosmopolitan moving picture

FRENCH RAILWAY SMASH.

Respired or elecuners.

It is probably the shrine containing tables and with it Corent fairles on the canopic jars of the King, that is to Saturday, and much of it was unadd. Sinters of Recey were walking round collecting of tracer's for the poor.

that the numbers will be greatly in TRUE SOURCE OF LOVE.

tion to Mr Orage, and this is what he whether they have reached the final pehind his 'personality,' which is not "At the present time the West does for members who have become so " harand I was assured that monised." and I was assured that particularly anxious to make it clear among its present instructors are men that the hard manual labour described who are proficient at any and every in the orticles by a "Daily Nows' trade and handleraft, starting from the simplest and proceeding to the highest (CONTINUED ON PAGE SEVEN.)